

Dancing Pam Font [DEMO VERSION]

Created by Quick Brown Fox Fonts / Lauren C. Brown
QuickBrownFoxFonts.com

Dancing Pam
The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog.

Dancing Pam was made from a character set my mom drew out some 15 years ago at the very end of my high school typography phase. It is a script font with large capital letters, and is probably best used as a decorative title.

This is a DEMO version of the font.

It includes only uppercase and lowercase letters.
You can use the demo version for personal use.

My demo fonts may be distributed through any media, as long as this PDF file is included, you are not selling the fonts, and you don't claim them as your own.

Here's how to get the full version:

The full version of the font, which can be purchased very very cheaply at QuickBrownFoxFonts.com, also contains numbers, punctuation, most accent characters, and many symbols. You can view the full character map at QuickBrownFoxFonts.com.

Purchase of the full version entitles you to a full license of the font, with which you can use the font commercially in any project.

The full versions of the fonts may not be distributed through any media without permission from me.

Whatever you use the font for, I'd love to see what you come up with! Feel free to contact me through my website and tell me about your project.

Thank you kindly!
Lauren C. Brown
QuickBrownFoxFonts.com

This document was last updated on February 26 2016.